AUDITORIUM THRONGED LAST NIGHT WITH THE EXHIBITION VISITORS

BUILDING WAS FILLED AND AT TIMES CROWDED WITH SPEC-TATORS AT THE BIG DISPLAY.

ATTENDANCE FIGURES

Numbers Yesterday Were Greatly in Excess of Those of Wednesday, Over Twelve Thousand People Attending.

Yesterday's attendance at the Merchants' and Manufacturers' exhibit at the auditorium building was by far the greatest that has ever attended a display of its kind in Janesville and the crowds in the building at times were equal to if not greater than the total attendance of Monday and Tuesday, when the numbers were lessened on account of the disagreeable weather. The attendance figures were swelled by the throngs which visited the display last night and from half past seven o'clock until ten there was a continuous movement of people in and out of the show. For a while the crowd was so great the aisles between the booths were almost blocked by the people trying to pass through, and it is estimated that at times there were from fifteen hundred to two thousand people in the building. The total number at the show last evening was about nine thousand, and with over three thousand visitors in the afternoon, the day's total is considerable over twelve thousand. The afternoon crowds, as usual, were largely made up of the people from out of town who were here for the bargains offered by the merchants, and there were many strangers in the throngs last night, the visiting delegation being unusually large. Included in the number was a party of Beloit people who came to Janesville in automobiles to see what Janesville can do in the way of a show of this nature, and they went away fully satisfied that the display is all that it is advertised to be. Visitors from a radius of a hundred miles were also at the exhibition yesterday, and there can be no doubt of the success it is achieving.

If the crowds continue to come as they have in the past two days, there is no doubt but that the attendance will run way above the figures of last year, which showed that thirty thousand people visited the display. The throngs last night were exceptionally large, and it may be these figures will not be reached today and tomorrow.
Indications are, however, that there will be no reduction in numbers and with the number of people in the city Saturday night on shopping tours, it is hard to estimate what the total attendance will be.

The commercial value of the show to Janesville and her merchants and manufacturers is somewhat intangible. There are direct results that can be traced to this source, but the indirect results, the future business that will come to the city, cannot well be estimated.

What might have caused a panic among the crowds had there been any disposition toward fright among them occurred at about quarter to ten last evening when some cotton batting, used in the decoration of the booth of E. J. Manning caught fire. The exhibit shows an engine manufactured by Mr. Manning, some of the bearings and shaftings. The inflammable cotton caught fire when the head of a match, which a visitor in the show was using to light a cigar, flew and fell into the exhibit. The cotton burned up with a flash and scorched the wall near which it stood. J. E. Woztendyke of the New Gas Light Company, however, had a chemical fire extinguisher in the gas company's booth and with this the fire was extinguished and possibilities of further damage prevented. There were about five hundred people in the auditorium at the time, but none of them seemed to be frightened, and those nearest gazed on nonchalantly while the blaze was put out.

The Moose band gave an especially fine concert last evening, which was well appreciated by the people at the exhibition, and between the band numbers, Lytle's string orchestra played some very pleasing selections.
The Lytle orchestra plays also in the afternoon. A good program will be given by the band this evening.

WILL SOON DETERMINE JANESVILLE TAX RATE

City Clerk Awaiting Report on Levy for State and County Purposes—Probably About $14.

Fourteen dollars per one thousand dollars of valuation will probably be the approximate tax rate in Janesville this year. The rate will be determined as soon as the county clerk forwards to the city clerk the amount of the levy to be raised in Janesville for state and county purposes. The rate for city purposes will be $10.50 per thousand of valuation. The average rate for state, county, and city last year was $18.93 per thousand.
The probable difference of $4 in the rate is accounted for by the fact that property is now valued at 100 per cent instead of at 80 per cent as formerly.

ALFRED H. TAYLOR ANSWERS LAST CALL

Respected Citizen and Resident of City for Sixty-Four Years Passed Away Last Night.

Alfred H. Taylor, a resident of Janesville for sixty-four years, highly respected citizen and prominent Odd Fellow, breathed his last at eight o'clock last night, death terminating a painful illness with which he had suffered for the last three years. In the fall of 1909 he was operated upon at St. Anne's Hospital, Chicago, for a tumorous growth in the abdomen, and since that time has been almost continuously confined to a hospital. All the surgery and medicine could do failed to arrest the inroads of the disease.

Mr. Taylor was born in Candor, Tioga county, New York, July 13, 1844, and came to Janesville with his parents in 1848, the year Wisconsin was admitted to statehood. He was married in 1888 to Mrs. Emma Farish, and for twenty-four years resided at 302 Prospect avenue. For more than thirty-five years he has been a member of the Wisconsin Lodge No. 14, Independent Order of Odd Fellows of which he is a past officer. He belonged to every part of the order and was secretary and treasurer of the Odd Fellows' Beneficial Club, giving this work his personal and faithful attention.

Mr. Taylor worked as a painter for many years and was a skilled workman. Later he took up photography and continued in that until poor health stayed his efforts. He was a member of the United Brethren church and a regular attendant.
Surviving the departed are his widow, two sisters, Mrs. J. L. Bear and Mrs. A. M. Glenn of this city, and one daughter, Mrs. Amy Huth of Grantsburg, Wis. A brother, Nelson Taylor, died at Edgerton several years ago.

Funeral services will be conducted by the Rev. C. J. Roberts at the United Brethren church at two o'clock Saturday afternoon. The Odd Fellows will have charge of the services at the grave in Oak Hill cemetery.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY CASE WILL BE TRIED

William C. Stevens of the Town of Center Files Complaint Against
R. W. Matthews.

Complaint of assault and battery has been made by W. C. Stevens against R. W. Matthews and the case will be set for trial at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon but was postponed until ten o'clock tomorrow morning.
Both men are residents of the town of Center and the alleged offense is said to have taken place there on November 12. John Cunningham is attorney for the complainant.

The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company

MADE IN JANESVILLE.

The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company—"Made in Janesville"—has a very interesting exhibit at the rink, especially so to residents of Janesville and vicinity. This Company, organized as it was in Janesville, Wisconsin, in 1857, has grown to be one of the leading Life Insurance Companies in this country, and the insurance gained by the Northwestern for several years has been greater than any Company in the world.

This Company had its first offices in the Exchange Block, Janesville, and was organized in the offices now occupied by Justice Tallman. From there they moved to the Lappin Block, now the Hayes Building, and occupied offices here until March, 1859, when they transferred their offices from Janesville to Milwaukee.
The Company now maintains a District Agency in Janesville, with offices in the Jackson building. Frank A.
Blackman is District Agent, with supervision over Walworth, Rock and Green counties.

The charter members and first officers of the Company were pioneers of Janesville, and could they see the Northwestern today they would certainly be astonished that from a humble beginning should grow the great Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company of America, with insurance in force of over one billion and assets of three hundred million.

"Made in Janesville" show may be seen Policy No. 1, written in Janesville, in long hand, and signed by E.
L. Dimmock, Secretary, and W. H.
Collins, President, both Janesville men; also pictures of the first thirty-six policy-holders (also Janesville residents); the first officers, and various office buildings occupied by the Company, two of them Janesville buildings.

On one side of the booth are displayed a few of the Company's recent policies on the lives of Janesville residents, which impress one that the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company not only wrote its original insurance here, but is very popular with the people of Janesville today.
The Company has outgrown its present large building in Milwaukee and is building a new office building on Wisconsin Street, Milwaukee, two blocks up from the Northwestern Railway depot, which, when completed, will be the best office building in Milwaukee, covering one whole block.

This Company was founded as a Mutual Life Insurance Company and is today furnishing legal reserve life insurance at lowest net cost, a fact which accounts for its steady growth through this country. To illustrate the large affairs of the Company at the present time, it is paying out more than one hundred thousand dollars each day in the year to policyholders. Advertisement.

The Official batting averages for the American league during the past season as just published are quite interesting. They show Ty Cobb more wonderful than ever, for this year he made a record of .410. An average of .300 is considered unusually good. Ty made 227 hits in 553 times at bat. Joe Jackson, of Cleveland made one less hit, but was at bat 572 times, which rates him at .395.

Clyde Milan led the league in stealing bases with 88, a new American league record. Eddie Collins topped the run getters with 137, one more than Tris Speaker. Speaker batted .382, Collins .348 and Milan .306.

There's almost a panic at Yale over the dismal outlook for success in Saturday's game with Princeton. Yale has failed to be impressive this season, and take it all in all has made a poor showing. However, that doesn't mean that the blue won't win Saturday; nobody ever dared measure Yale teams on past records.

Next to Harvard, Princeton stands as the foremost team of the year. The Tigers have been constantly brilliant. The attack, against all but Harvard, was little short of wonderful. The defense, slightly weak in some quarters, has not been weak enough to stamp the team as unreliable. Basing an opinion on the past, Yale should be outclassed in Saturday's game.

CHANGED TIME OF TRAIN ON ST. PAUL RAILROAD.

Connections Between Here and Rockford and Freeport Affected by the Change.

Connections between this city, Rockford and Freeport over the St. Paul railroad are affected by the change in the time tables which has gone into effect. The time of the train from Racine to Freeport has been changed, and the train leaving here at 11:15 in the morning does not make close connections with the Racine-Freeport train, as previously. The train leaving here at 8:40 o'clock in the morning for Beloit, however, makes close connections at Beloit for Rockford and Freeport.

To Attend Exposition: Many farmers from this vicinity are planning to attend the big stock show to be held in connection with the two weeks' farmers' agricultural course to be held in Madison in the month of February. A. G. Austin, secretary of the Wisconsin Ayshire Breeders' association, and Hugh Robinson of Evansville, a well known breeder of Hereford cattle, have been appointed members of the exposition committee.

WHO ARE THE KNOCKERS?

The open letter of Attorney J. J. Cunningham, which appeared in the Gazette last night, struck a responsive chord in the hearts of a class of people who believe in the wide open town, and who are not insympathetic with efforts now being made along the line of civic reform.

To say that this class of people represent public sentiment, in any large degree, is hardly a debatable proposition, and to claim that the city is good enough, or as good as other cities, is begging the question.

When a city becomes indifferent to the extent that minors are encouraged to become law-breakers, and when our wives and daughters are subject to insult, when they appear on the streets unattended, it may be good enough for some people, but not good enough for the great majority who look to the authorities for protection.

This majority represents more than the lines of business which flourish best in a wide open town, or the limited constituency in sympathy with them. It comprises the homes entitled to protection, and their rights, which appeal to every thoughtful citizen as a sacred obligation.

"Good enough," when a young girl at the hospital was obliged to marry, the other day, to save herself from life-long disgrace. Good enough when a mother was startled, not long ago, by the fact that her thirteen-year-old daughter was about to become a mother.

"Good enough," when the two boys now held for murder, admitted that they had no trouble in buying drinks at many saloons in the city. "Good enough," when it is an honor rather than a disgrace for a man to have his name on the black list.

Mrs. Day is just now engaged in talking to the women of the city about conditions which prevail. It is to be regretted that these talks can not be given to the public. They would speedily silence the "good enough" argument.

The "knockers" are the people who are satisfied with these deplorable conditions; and who are doing what they can to retard the work of the men who are trying to boost the city out of the slime and filth and restore it to a sense of moral purity.

The committee of fifteen is backed by the largest constituency of any organization which ever existed in the city. It exists to aid the city authorities in cleaning up the city. The good work is well in hand and it will go on, until the plague spots are removed. Good morals are the foundation of prosperity, and this applies to public as well as private life.

BERGSTERMAN CASE COMES UP MONDAY

Trial of Edward Meyer and Harry Berger Charged With Murder. First Action For Jury

Jurors for the October term of the circuit court for Rock county have been summoned for the opening of the court on Monday, Nov. 18, at two o'clock in the afternoon, at which time a jury will be drawn for the Bergsterman murder case. Edward Meyer and Harry Berger, the young men charged with the killing of Tilly Bergsterman on the night of Sept. 30, have been in the county jail since the inquest awaiting their trial. Their attorney will be Thomas S. Nolan while District Attorney Dunwiddie will be assisted by Attorney Chas. E. Pierce. RAILROAD OFFICIALS HERE ON BUSINESS

G. W. Dailey of Northwestern Railroad and E. W. Morrison, St. Paul Official in City Today.

G. W. Dailey of Chicago, superintendent of the Wisconsin division of the Northwestern railroad, and E. W. Morrison, assistant superintendent of the Mineral Point and Prairie du Chien division of the St. Paul railroad, were in the city today to make arrangements for the cross-over switches and tracks to be placed at both ends of the joint railroad bridge of the two companies across Rock river. Members of the crew of the Cleary-White company of Chicago, which is to build the bridge, have started at work laying the temporary tracks, and it is expected they will be completed by tomorrow or the first of the week. Northwestern trains crossing the bridge, it is reported, will be run over the St. Paul tracks while the work on the Northwestern company's side is being done, and when that is completed, the switches and tracks will be changed so as to run St. Paul trains over the Northwestern side of the bridge, while the other side is being completed.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

A pure, healthful, Cream of Tartar Baking Powder

When buying an article of food you are entitled to know exactly what you are buying—its quality and ingredients.

If this information is refused don't buy it. Some of the low grade baking powders are advertised, but the ingredients of the powders are scrupulously concealed.

A housekeeper would not use a baking powder containing alum if she knew it.

It is well when buying to examine the label on the can. Unless it shows the ingredient cream of tartar, don't buy it. Dr. Price's baking powder is absolutely free from alum.

PUTTING paint on costs three or four times as much as the paint; the property is probably worth fifty times both.

It doesn't pay to "skimp" the job; get the best painter you can find; tell him to use Devco Lead and Zinc Paint. If he tells you he can mix a better paint himself, he isn't the best painter you can find; get another.

Devco Lead and Zinc Paint is better than hand-mixing can make.

Neenah, Wis., Nov. 15.—Neenah girls have no love for rabbits. They claim the little animals are winning away the attention if not the affections of their best fellows. Rabbits are particularly numerous now and large number of rabbit hunters are being organized and the reason the girls are sore is that the hunting is best on moonlight nights when lovers are wont to stroll. "Nix on the stroll," say the boys. "We don't want even chicken, give us rabbit."

Demand Greater Than Supply.

Coquillo nuts (little cocoanuts) are found in abundance in Mexico, but the entire amount gathered is taken by the local soap factories, the managers of which are constantly complaining that they cannot procure sufficient raw material from this neighborhood for their needs. This condition is due to the lack of interest on the part of the natives and to some extent, no doubt, to the difficulty experienced in extracting the meat.

This store hereafter will be known by this name for two reasons. 1st, because we have adopted some new ways in the Grocery business in this city and if you, who have not been in this store since Mr. Rothermel has taken possession, just step in and look around, no matter if you buy anything or not, you will be welcome. Second because we have put in a complete line of goods so named because you will find a check in each package or on each wrapper. Save them and send them to the Nuway Co. and they will send you good merchandise for them. This Company does not advertise in magazines or papers and in place pays the money which they would spend in advertising, back to you in good first class merchandise. This merchandise is simply an advertising scheme and is not what is commonly called a premium system.

Understand, this store does not give premiums but the manufacturer of this line reimburses the consumer direct with the amount which would naturally be spent in the regular advertising method. Further these goods cost you no more than goods of like quality and weight. In some instances you get better values.

Come to our store today or any day and ask for catalog of merchandise and list of Nuway goods. Following are some of the best bargains in this line:

BELOIT ASSESSMENT NEEDS A BIG RAISE

TAYLOR SAYS LINE CITY'S ASSESSED VALUATION FALLS FAR SHORT OF WHAT IT SHOULD BE.

TRUE VALUE GREATER

According to Estimates Which He Determined and Beloit Was Equalized at Six Million Above Assessment Figures.

"Strenuous efforts were used to bring about more equitable conditions in Beloit city resulting in a raise of all property from $9,443,398.00 assessed in 1911 to $12,089,082.00 in 1912. But the 1912 assessment falls so far as its being a full value assessment, and probably does not exceed 55 per cent of actual assessable values."

This is the statement of Supervisor of Assessments F. A. Taylor in regard to the inequality of the Beloit assessment, as made in his report to the county board. As a result of this condition in the Line City, Mr. Taylor, after determining to his own satisfaction the percentage of difference between the real and assessed valuation of all property placed the true value of all property some six million mony, Janesville, Lima, La Prairie, Magnolia, Newark, Plymouth, Porter, Spring Valley, Turtle and Union.

"The township of Clinton appears to be the poorest assessed township in the county, little attempt having been made to assess property in substantial compliance with the law.

The townships of Milton and Johnstown are next in line with assessments far out of proportion to actual values.

"The cities of Janesville and Evansville were assessed in substantial compliance with the law. The city of Edgerton is far below a full assessment, and the city of Beloit is the worst assessed city in the county."

Then follows Mr. Taylor's statement in regard to Beloit, as given above. The report concludes:

"The assessments made in the villages of Clinton, Milton, and Orfordville appear to be in substantial compliance with the law.

Respectfully submitted,
F. A. TAYLOR,
Assessor of Incomes."

dollars above the assessed valuation, as will be seen by the accompanying table.

The table also shows that the true values of property in the various townships, cities and villages, were increased over the assessed valuations in almost every case, for the purpose of equalizing the tax apportionment. This was done in spite of the fact that Mr. Taylor took especial pains to compliment some of the assessors for their work. It is not a new condition of affairs, however, nor does it involve any element of injustice, but on the other hand is supposed to secure greater fairness.

Mr. Taylor's report to the board on the methods used in determining the true values will serve to clear the matter up to some extent.

Mr. Taylor explains the instructions given to the county assessors at their annual meeting, as follows:

"The annual assessors' meeting was held on April 29th. At this meeting the changes in the assessment laws were explained and particular attention given to the fact that a full value assessment of both real and personal property is required by law. This was followed up by personal work with the assessors. The result of efforts along this line are shown in the table, in which a comparison is made of the 1911 assessment on real estate, personal property and all property with the new assessment."

Mr. Taylor makes clear his system of obtaining true values as follows:

"The total real estate value for each district is found in Table 7. The data by which these values are arrived at will be found in special form D. The sales covering a period of five years ending May 1, 1911, are used as a basis.

"These true values are furnished by the Wisconsin State Tax Commission, and are placed on bona fide sales, and, without doubt, the most accurate while it is possible to obtain; and while it only brings the true values up to May 1, 1911, it has the advantage of corresponding with the period upon which the State Tax Commission bases its state equalization."

In regard to personal property the report reads:

"You will observe the form of this report is somewhat different than usual, noticeably so pertaining to personal property. The assessors' figures are given in detail with their averages for each district.

"The supervisors' assessments and averages are also given for each district, these assessments or inspections were taken personally by the supervisor and number approximately 525, extending into every assessment district.

"Great care was taken in making these inspections that no injustice be done to any district. The assessments taken by the Supervisor, which numbered from 20 to 25 in each district, were compared as to numbers, kinds and values of those taken by the local assessor and the percentages worked out and tabulated as found.

"As previously stated in this report assessors were instructed to comply with the law, which requires that all property be assessed at its true value, and the assessors in the following districts are entitled to credit for their efforts and results shown.

OFFICIAL COUNT IS FINISHED IN STATE

enough to enable Wilson to carry it.
Wilson Gets Walworth.
Lafayette county was lost to Taft by the narrow margin of seven votes while in Pierce county he had the advantage over Wilson of one vote though Roosevelt carried the county. One of the surprises was Walworth county, formerly a staunch republican county, but this year it went to Wilson by the close margin of 29 votes, due to 1,237 republican votes which went to Roosevelt. Waupaca and Waushara counties, though falling off in their normal pluralities for the republican ticket, held up measurably well when conditions are considered, Waupaca giving Taft 642 plurality and Waushara giving him 512.

Columbia county, usually good for 1,200 to 1,800 republican plurality, this year went to Wilson by the narrow margin of 10 votes. Grant county, another staunch republican county, went slumping over to Wilson, giving him a plurality of 222. It was the same all along the line. With the desire for change so pronounced, the bull moose inroads, coupled with the stay at home vote, which the returns show to have been almost solely republican, the wonder is that Taft was not beaten worse than he was in the state.

Figures are interesting.
Gov. McGovern's plurality was from 10,000 to 12,000 less than that of other candidates on the state ticket. On the other hand he ran about 3,000 ahead of the other state candidates. Karel ran from 13,000 to nearly 16,000 ahead of the other candidates on the democratic state ticket. His lead was as follows: over H. W. Bolens, candidate for lieutenant governor, 13,609; over Andrew Kealy, candidate for secretary of state, 15,724; over Nicholas Schmidt, candidate for state treasurer, 15,573; over C. A. Kading, candidate for attorney general, 15,660.

McGovern carried fifty-two of the seventy-one counties in the state. Karel carrying but nineteen. The counties carried by Karel were: Calumet, Crawford, Dane, Dodge, Fond du Lac, Forest, Green, Lake, Jefferson, Kewaunee, Langlade, Manitowish, Marathon, Milwaukee, Ozaukee, Portage, Racine, Sheboygan, Washington, and Waushara.

Has Recount.
Attorney Elmer Elvers of Madison served papers on the canvassing board of Dane county Thursday afternoon ordering a recount of the vote cast in ten precincts in the county. He said this is being done in behalf of John C. Karel. Six of the precincts are in townships in which heavy republican pluralities were cast for Gov. McGovern. The others are the First and Second precincts of the Fifth ward and, the Ninth and Tenth wards, which are all in the university section of the city. It is understood that this is the first step in a concerted effort to have a large part of the vote in the state recounted.

INTERESTING STORY ABOUT A BIG PLANT

Prize Chrysanthemum Would Not Go in Doors of Waldorf Hotel—Engineer Bingham to the Rescue.

Readers of the Gazette will be interested in the following story of a giant chrysanthemum, that was too big to go through one of the doors of the Waldorf Hotel New York in view of the fact that the problem was solved by Engineer Ezra Bingham, who is well known here. Mr. Bingham's old home was at Lake Koshkonong on the famous Bingham farm. Mr. Bingham has been chief engineer for the Waldorf, almost since that hotel was built and many barrels of Wisconsin turkeys find their way to the store rooms of the great hotel from around Koshkonong. The New York Times prints the following of the giant plant that puzzled all the employees of the hotel to get inside.

For several hours yesterday a flowering plant waited outside the Thirty-fourth street entrance to the Waldorf while Chief Engineer Bingham, the hotel florist, two assistant managers, a gardener, six porters, seven pages and two bellboys, not to speak of a number of dining room attendants and chambermaids, made plans to get it inside the building.

From the casual glance at the facade of the Waldorf, one would imagine it was big enough to hold any plant. It is. The trouble was to find a hole in the side of the building big enough to squeeze the plant through. The doorways on that side are bigger than ordinary, but they were not big enough. The plant was the celebrated "Wells." Late pink chrysanthemum, grown on Adolph Lewisohn's place at Ardsley, and which had been on exhibition for several days at the Museum of Natural History. The number of flowers on the growth runs from 1,200 to 1,500. The former was the number when the plant left the museum, but had been swelled by 300 when the wagon carrying it reached the hotel, according to the official report.

Arrangements had been made to place the prize winner in the Blue Room and the assistant manager was informed it had arrived. He directed that it be brought immediately into the hotel. The gardener in charge of the plant smiled.

"Can't do it," he said. "It's too big." "Open the revolving doors," said the assistant manager.

"That wouldn't help any," returned the gardener.

The manager looked at him hard, and then went out to see what the plant was like. Then he sent a hurry call for Chief Engineer Bingham. The latter was busy at something else, and refused to believe that any plant was too big to come in through the revolving doorway. It was not until after luncheon, that he was persuaded that his services were needed. Meantime rumors as to the size of the plant spread through the hotel and everybody who could get away from work tiptoed out to take a look and offer suggestions. Finally the chief came.

"Mercy me!" he ejaculated. Then he sent downstairs for a full plumber's kit. The plant is mounted on all sorts of wires, and the diameter is over eleven feet. One suggestion was that they take it downstairs in the outside elevator, but this was dismissed as impracticable. Another was that the side of the building be knocked in.

Finally the chief's eye spotted one of the big windows, but whether you pulled down the top or pushed up the bottom, the aperture would not be big enough. There was nothing to do but take out both sashes when a hole 9 feet six inches high was available and through this the plant was slanted in.

AGRICULTURAL WORK IN RURAL SCHOOLS

Report on School Garden as Given by Fulton Teacher Shows Keen Interest Aroused.

Unusual interest in agricultural studies and work has been aroused in the district schools throughout the county by the plan of making school gardens. Teachers who have tried out this scheme have reported to Prof. Lowth of the training school, who was largely responsible for the idea in Rock county. A letter from Miss Harriet Park, of District No. 6, town of Fulton, tells of the method and results.

"Last spring as we were taking up the study of agriculture, I wondered what plan to work in order to prove to the children the truths we were studying day by day. I thought my problem was solved, when, one day I received a package of garden seeds through the mail. They were from Mr. Lowth, principal of the Training School in Janesville.

"Of course the children were delighted at the idea of a garden and all were ready to lend a hand. The first question was, 'How shall we get our ground worked up?' One of the members of the board offered to plow for us, but the boys suggested using spades. So we decided on the latter. We brought spades and worked hard before and after school for a number of days.

"The girls as well as the boys brought rakes and we worked the soil very fine.

The most interesting part was marking off the beds and planting the seeds. We planted corn, tomatoes, beets, lettuce, and radishes. Then came anxious days watching for the seeds to sprout. Whoever spied the first sprouts was a lucky boy or girl, and always reported his or her discovery to the rest.

"As the seeds grew we observed many things. First that the corn and beans did not sprout in the same manner; the beets needed thinning and the tomatoes transplanting. We also noticed that the plants all needed moistening and cultivation.

"We had a good deal of comfort out of our first garden, but hope to have a better one next spring, and plant flower seeds as well.

"We are glad to say that Mr. Lowth has visited our school this fall, but we wish he might have come in the spring also, to see how well his seeds grew."

Clogged-up Bowels Menace To Health

Constipation at Bottom of Most Serious Illnesses—Avoided by a Simple Remedy.

Trace the origin of the commoner ills of life and almost invariably you will find that constipation was the cause. It is not to be expected that a mass of fermented food can remain in the system beyond its time without violating the blood and affecting the nerves and muscles. It congests the entire body.

The results are colds, fevers, piles, headaches and nervousness with its accompanying indigestion and sleeplessness. There is only one thing to do, and that is to remove the trouble and as nature seemed unable to do it, outside aid is necessary. You will find the best of all outside aids a remedy that many thousands are now using for this very purpose, called Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Many hundreds of letters are received by Dr. Caldwell telling of the good results obtained, and among the letters have been very enthusiastic ones from Mrs. Sadie Weir, Marquette, Mich., and Mr. J. B. Stephens, 224 Main St., Joplin, Mo., who rely entirely on Syrup Pepsin in these emergencies.

It has untold advantages over pills, salts and the various coarse cathartics and purgatives; for, while these do but temporary good, Syrup Pepsin cures permanently. The effect of its action is to train the stomach and level muscles to do their work naturally again, and in a short time all forms of medicine can be dispensed with. It can be bought without inconvenience at any nearby drug store for fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, the latter size being regularly bought by those who already know its value. Syrup Pepsin is so mild and free from any form of narcotic that it is given to tiny infants and yet it will be found effective in the most stubborn case of constipation which has resisted all other remedies. If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way a postal will do to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 413 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

Practical Has to Be Looked To.
A journalist, linked recently with a struggling composer. He inquired whether the words of the great masters did not inspire the musician. The musician, granted that they did, but that they do not inspire confidence in landlords when the rent was due, an occasion for which it was well to be prepared even if you had to play cheap melodies to do it.

Take This Man's Advice

Try The Great Kidney Remedy.

It always gives me pleasure to recommend anything that is right and so I feel it my duty to herald the praises of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root.

For years I was troubled with kidney disease and it was so intense that I was bedridden for days at a time. I gave up all hope and the doctors for miles around gave me no help. I eventually tried several patent remedies and at last tried Swamp-Root. From the very first it gave me relief and it was no time before I was able to be up and around and now I am perfectly well and able to work as I used to before my terrible sickness.

So now let me thank you for your wonderful discovery and take this opportunity to recommend it to all who suffer from kidney troubles.

Yours very truly,

SIDEWALK KETCHES.

WHY WHO'S WHO?
(By Howard L. Rann.)

THERE used to be a time when a man could earn a good living playing baseball without using much of anything except hope and muscle. The old-time pitcher, for instance, could leave his brains on the center table and pitch a whole game without missing a n y thing. Nowadays, however, if a player with a congealed noodle stands about as much show as a three-fingered hammer thrower.

The cleverest assortment of pitching brains in this country is owned by Christy Mathewson of the New York Giants.

Christy's most notable effort in this line is his fadeaway, which he has had patented in America and Europe with so much success that nobody has infringed upon it to any extent.

This curve is thrown with an intellectual grunt and the muscles of the right shoulder. The ball starts out with great enthusiasm, then thinks of something, which it left behind and starts back for it. It then remembers that what it is looking for is at the other end and steams up again, after which it fiddles around for several minutes before wrenching a spiral coil about the legs of the batter. It is the best curve Christy has in his repertoire, and he has it adjusted down to 1,100th of an inch.

Christy has been all in for several years, we are told, but he comes out every few days and deprives some team of large gobs of the soap.

He failed to cop in the recent world series because an interior player named Hank Luck landed on him twice in the tenth inning. Some players would have spilled dark brown kicks all over the sporting park for a week, but not so with Christy. He closed up like a true sportsman, took his medicine with good old New England courage and began to figure out a hunting trip. In defeat he is more admirable, more lovable, than in the scenes of his greatest triumphs. He will be a visible asset next year, whatever the critics say, unless his brain becomes shoulder bound.

WILBURCOCOA Bread Pudding

1 cup Wilburcocoa, 4 cups milk, 1 1/2 cups brown sugar, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon butter, 1 tablespoon granulated sugar. 3 thin slices bread, all crust removed.

Mix the Wilburcocoa with the cold milk until smooth, add one-half the brown sugar and the well-beaten eggs of eggs. Brush breads with butter and the bread pieces and place in a buttered dish. Pour over the Wilburcocoa and milk cover with the remainder of brown sugar, butter and that with the cinnamon; bake in moderate oven one hour. Beat the whites of eggs until dry, add one teaspoon granulated sugar, spread over the top of pudding, range with fire and dust with pulverized light brown sugar.

NEW DISCOVERY QUICKLY CURES KIDNEY AND BLADDER TROUBLES

Chronic Sufferers Find Relief After Few Doses Are Taken.

If you are bothered with backache—or rheumatism, have disagreeable, annoying bladder or urinary disorders to contend with—or suffer with any other of the many miseries that come from weak kidneys, here is a guaranteed remedy you can depend upon, no matter what else may have failed to cure you.

It is a positive fact that the new discovery, Croxone, permanently overcomes such diseases. It is the most wonderful remedy ever made for ridding the system of uric acid. Pills, tablets, and other remedies at the best merely stimulate the kidneys, giving temporary relief. Croxone removes the cause and cures the troubles.

It soaks right in and cleans out the stopped up kidneys and makes them filter and sift, out all the poisonous waste matter from the blood.

It neutralizes and dissolves the uric acid that lodges in the joints and muscles, causing rheumatism, soothes and lessens the delicate linings of the bladder, and puts the kidneys and urinary organs in a clean, strong, healthy condition.

More than a few doses of Croxone are seldom required to relieve even the obstinate, long standing cases, while it cures the most severe forms of kidney, bladder trouble, and rheumatism in a surprisingly short time.

You will find Croxone entirely different from all other remedies. There is nothing else on earth like it. It is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. An original package costs but a trifle at any first class drug store. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if Croxone fails to give the desired results the very first time you use it.

You Will Be Surprised At The Prices We Are Making During Our Removal Piano Sale

Some are selling a certain piano at $350 high grade, we are offering the same while this sale is on at $250; another high grade at $200, and it would be a bargain at $300. What are you thinking about, to let someone else get these pianos, while you are letting these bargains pass by unheeded.

Give the children a musical education. We give with every piano sold a special certificate of scholarship, good for two years with the Northwestern School of Music in Milwaukee, Wis.

This special certificate of scholarship will give the entire family a musical education and is good for two years and is valued at $80.00, and if you took up this study with the Northwestern School of Music the terms would be $40.00 per year or $80.00 for two years. But in buying your piano of us you get this scholarship with your piano by paying the expenses of postage and mailing. We have customers right here in this city who are taking this special course and this is what they say (on a piano so far, I think the lessons are as good as being taught by a teacher at your side). This special scholarship is only given by us to more thoroughly advertise the North School of Music and to do this they give us the right to give one special scholarship with every piano we sell. We make no extra charge on the piano, but as we say it is done to advertise, and you get the scholarship when you purchase your piano from us. We will give you a square deal on every piano we sell, and our pianos are pianos of quality. Come and see them and prove it for yourself. We are going to move by Dec. 1st to 313 West Milwaukee, in part of the store occupied by J. J. Smith, the Jeweler. The question is this, are you going to purchase a piano before Christmas? If so, see our pianos and get our

NATURE'S DANGER SIGNALS.

"BUT I never actually felt tired," protested a woman who had completely broken down after a period of overwork.

"No," said the doctor, "of course you didn't. You were too tired for that, but you had other warnings."

Nature has a great many danger signals. The most common is the red light of actual physical weariness. We all know enough to recognize that even if we don't always heed it. There are other signals of even more imminent danger which many people entirely fail to recognize.

For instance, if at the end of a hard day's work your back aches, you know that you have overdone; but if you meet an acquaintance and simply cannot think of his name, do you connect that also with your overwork? Or do you simply feel annoyed at your loss of memory and let it go at that?

A woman whom I know is overworking. She is in fairly good physical condition, and so she will not admit that she is overtaxing herself. But I notice that whenever she wants to speak to any one of her children she has to pause a moment before she can select the right name, and often calls the child by its brother's or sister's name instead of its own.

Again the trick of saying the exact opposite of what you mean. Hot when you mean cold, summer when you want to say winter and so on, I have found, in my own case at least, to be a reminder that I am overworking. Some people who have a habit of doing this and that, I believe, is usually a sign that their condition is a little below par.

That confused feeling, that inability to understand what people mean, or to decide what you want to do next, which most of us feel once in a while, is another red flag on the track to warn us that we had better go slow.

What do I mean by "go slow"? Well for one thing I mean, it literally. Stop hurrying. It takes just about twice as much energy to do a thing in a hurry as to do the same thing in your own time.

Again, stop worrying. It takes twice as much energy to cross a bridge twice.

Be outdoors all you can. Add an hour to your sleep.

See if your eyes are in proper condition. Try to remember that after all you don't have to hold the whole universe on your shoulders; that if you do your best that is all that is required of you, and Providence will take care of the rest.

Try that course of treatment for a month, and I am quite sure Nature will withdraw her red flags.

the cut, and seeing that just the desired weight is given, and no more is surely the wise housekeeping and buying.

Well, do I remember the sorrow of a young housekeeper, who, in her first telephone order for dinner, included seven pounds of corn beef. She had heard her husband say that he "liked it." It was doubtful in our minds whether he ever did after that, for we could see meals ahead of him with that "corn beef."

All meat selected for pot roasts should be cooked at a low temperature. If desired, it may be first seared in a hot kettle with a piece of suet, turned several times until all juices are retained, and then the hot water added and cooked slowly. Or it may be put at once into the pot roast kettle with a small amount of boiling water, simmer, and when the water is nearly cooked out, brown the meat in the kettle and make the gravy.

There has been considerable difference of opinion among cooks as to which way gives the finer flavor. It is quite necessary to have a large flat-bottomed kettle for this roast. Steel or aluminum are both good for this purpose.

Have a very friendly acquaintance with your butcher. He will help you. I once heard a butcher say to a woman when she was showing him just the cut she wanted: "Where did you learn the butcher business?" did you learn the butcher business? You, no doubt, will never reach that particular woman's efficiency in buying and selecting meat, but with the desire and willingness to learn your butcher will always be willing to help you and give you the necessary assistance in the selection of all meats.

Order meat as little as possible over the telephone. Selecting just

NUTS IN FOOD COMBINATIONS.

Nuts contain so much nutrition that they should be used more generally as a food. Those who object to the use of meat may find a good substitute in nuts.

Savory Nut Loaf.—Any nut loaf mixture may be served in the form of croquettes with peas or a tomato sauce, making a satisfying luncheon dish. Take a cup of chopped nut meats, walnut or hickory, add four cups of breadcrumbs, a chopped hard cooked egg, a well beaten egg, a half teaspoonful of salt, a half teaspoonful of pulverized sage, a medium sized onion, grated, and sufficient milk or water to moisten the mixture. Mix all together and roll in the form of a loaf, bake in a small bread pan well buttered. Bake about half an hour.

Almond Cookies.—Mix a pound of ground, blanched almonds with a pound of sugar, add a tablespoonful of powdered cinnamon, a tablespoonful of powdered cloves, five cents worth of anise seed, and the yolks of four eggs well beaten, flour to make a stiff dough, adding the well beaten whites of the eggs before the flour. Roll out and cut with fancy cutters. Bake in a moderate oven.

Peanut With Rice.—Cook a cupful of rice until tender; while hot stir in a cup of peanut butter, stirring until well mixed. Then add a half cup of milk, a cup of cracker crumbs, leaving out enough to spread over the loaf, and two well beaten eggs. Make into a loaf, roll in crumbs and bake in a moderate oven.

Nut Mince Pie.—Take a cup of nut meats and two cups of apples, cut fine, a half cup of vinegar, a half cup of water or other fruit juice, a half cup of sugar, a cup of raisins, a dash of salt and half a teaspoonful each of cinnamon, cloves and powdered orange peel. This is sufficient for two pies. Bake with two crusts.

What Course Should this Girl Take?

CORRESPONDENT writes: "When a young man invites a young lady out to dine with him, the first thing she is asked to partake of is some intoxicating drink. If she refuses, she is told to be a sport and drink. If she does drink, does the young man think less of her?"

What a man thinks of a girl who drinks depends altogether upon the man and his standards of conduct. Generally speaking, a man has less respect for a girl who drinks than for one who doesn't. But there are men, plenty of them, who see no harm or wrong in drinking, and who prefer a girl who will drink with them to one who will not. They look upon the girl who refuses as "goody-goody," as considering herself superior, or at any rate, as one who does not enjoy the pleasures they do. She makes them feel uncomfortable, and so they pass her by for the girl who will be a jolly good fellow with them. So whether a man will think less of a girl for not drinking will depend upon what sort of man he is, what his ideals and beliefs are.

But is this the point to be considered? Aren't there bigger issues at stake than what the man may think of the girl?

If a girl likes a man, what he thinks of her is to be sure a very big thing to her. But after all, is the regard of a man, who urges her to drink, so very valuable? If she will look beyond the mere pleasure she may find in his society for the moment, what in the long run will such companionship mean to her? Where will it take her? What will it give her? Will she have, as a result of it, more or less of the real things that count in life, the lasting joys—health, serenity, a good character, friends that are worth while, and all the fine, beautiful things that life has to give? That are worth while, and all the fine, beautiful things that life has to give?

Should one care very much for the regard of the kind of man who entices a girl to drink?

And though this personal side is a big one, and to the individual, seemingly the most important, isn't there a still greater question at stake, the great abstract question of right and wrong?

The subject of drinking is one of the moral issues of the day. A girl must decide for herself where she wishes to stand. But she need only use her eyes and look about her to see the harm and misery that comes from drinking to realize whether she ought to throw the influence of her example for or against it. And it seems to me to take a stand to help people up instead of down is a bigger thing than to weakly yield to that which is debasing, simply to win the regard of some one whose regard is scarcely worth having.

And there is still another and darker side to it. Very often the man who wants a girl to drink is urging her to do it from the very worst motives. He has ulterior designs far beyond those of desiring her to be a sport and a good fellow for the moment.

On all counts, I would advise the girl to refuse to drink, and I would further advise her to cut the company of such a man. Unless indeed, she can be loving and sweet, by adhering steadfastly to her principles, lift him above the low plane upon which he is living, and give him a finer and higher conception of life.

DIET AND HEALTH HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN Food Specialist

AVOID EATING FOOD WHILE HOT.

The notion that food must be hot to be beneficial or agreeable, is wholly without foundation in reason. Hot food is clearly unnatural and tends to cultivate other unnatural habits—hurried eating, especially. Extremes are to be avoided. We do not expect to make fruit or nuts hot before eating, nor is it good for any other food. In some cases hot drink is good, but the use of the ordinary hot beverages often leads to bad results. When food is cold it should be brought to blood heat before swallowing. Taking food into the stomach much above or below body temperature is injurious, with the exception of hot water or lemonade in the morning under certain circumstances. The injurious effects of ice water and ice cream in summer have been much emphasized, but the bad effects of hot drinks and hot foods have been overlooked.

How?

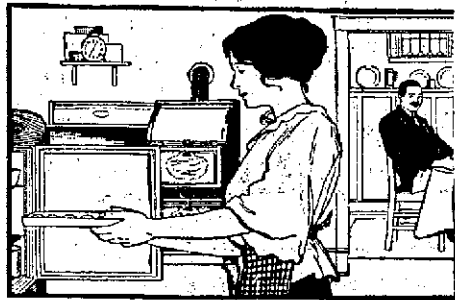

"The engagement ring Jack gave me is a beauty," remarked Ethel. "Yes," replied Maud, "I know it is."

Healthy Palms.

An olive oil bath is an excellent thing for a palm or fern. Pour two tablespoonfuls of olive oil at the root of your plant about once a month. You will immediately note the difference in the plant. It becomes a healthy green and the leaves fairly sparkle in the light. If your plant is small, you will not need so much oil.

Mix the Breakfast Biscuits the Night Before—

Set Them Away in a Cool Place and Bake them Fresh in the Morning

If the family do not all eat breakfast together, you can bake a few at a time. If you are having hot biscuits for supper, mix and cut out enough more for breakfast. They will be much nicer freshly baked than warmed over.

Of course you can't do this very successfully with sour milk and soda or with any of the old fashioned, single acting baking powders, but this convenient way of making hot biscuits and muffins for breakfast is entirely satisfactory if you use which is really a blend of two baking powders, one of which begins to give off leavening gas as soon as moisture is added. The other is inactive until heat is applied. The dough will remain in a partly leavened condition for hours and when put in the oven will come up just as light and fluffy as if freshly mixed.

K.C. BAKING POWDER

Get a can of K.C. today and try this easy way of baking biscuits at once. You'll never go back to the old way.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, November 15, 1872.—Common Council. At the meeting of the common council last evening, the special committee to whom was referred the petition of certain residents on the eastern end of Court street reported an ordinance detaching the portion of said street mentioned in the petition and setting it apart as a separate street under the name of Vernon street. The report of the committee was accepted and the ordinance ordered to a first and second reading. Under suspension of rules the ordinance was read a third time and passed.

On the motion of Alderman Martin, Mr. Bates and Mr. Brooks were employed to draw the steamers to fires until the next meeting of the council, at the rate of forty dollars per month. On motion of Ald. Caesar, the mayor was authorized to appoint B. Baldwin a special policeman, with authority to make arrests in cases of pilfering or disturbances about the depot. "Lead Us Not Into Temptation."—There will be a grand temperance rally at the Congregational church, on Sabbath evening, the 17th inst., at 7 o'clock. The principal churches will be closed in order to give the people an opportunity to attend. Five or six prominent men of the city, from the clergy and laity, have signified their acceptance of an invitation to be present and address the meeting. The speakers will be limited to ten minutes each. It is expected that this will be the most interesting and important temperance meeting ever held in Janesville.

When the north wind roars at your cottage doors and batters the window panes, and the colds so fierce that it seems to pierce right into your bones and veins, then it's sweet to sit by the fire and knit, and think, while the needles clank, of the iron men, of the shining yen, you have in the village bank! When you've lost your job and mistresses rob your face of its wonted grin, when the money goes for your grub and clothes, though there's nothing coming in; when the fates are rough and they kick, and cuff and give you a frequent spank, how sweet to think of the bunch of chink you have in the village bank!

The worst, my friend, that the fates can send, is offered for you, and yours if you have the price, have the coin on ice—the best of all earthly cures; oh, a healthy wad is your staff and rod when the luck seems tough and rank; your consolers then are the iron men you have in the village bank!

Probably you have heard vague rumors in the publications of this country—daily, weekly, and monthly—of the "Montessori Method." Have you ever wondered just what this phase means? "But—" expostulated his friend, who, born and bred in the East, never knew any better.

"Come on!" shouted Alkali Ike. "Would you stop and argue when there's a murder to be witnessed?"

"Slam! Bang! slapped the cowhide boots on the unyielding pave.

"But, I say—"

"Quick!" yelled Alkali Ike. "Have you no sense of the fitness of things at all?"

IT'S RISKY

IT'S A BIG RISK to hold an auction sale unless it is well advertised. You put up $2000 worth of property for sale; maybe it will bring $2000; maybe $1500; maybe less.

It's up to you.

It all depends upon how well you advertise it. One that is thoroughly advertised cannot help but be a success.

Almost every sale that is advertised in the Gazette brings more than the proprietor expected.

You can save a few dollars by trying to get along with a few bills or running a small ad in a paper with little circulation, but how about results? Will you find that you have saved anything when you count your money at the close of the sale?

Dare you take chances on $2000 worth of property to save a few dollars at the outset?

OLIVE Tablets OIL the Bowels

A Physician's Substitute for Dangerous Calomel.

When you feel that your liver and bowels need help take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. Substitute for Calomel. Calomel is effective, but dangerous—causing bad after-effects.

Olive Tablets are especially made to take the place of Calomel. Dr. Edwards for years has been using the olive oil in his practice, treating patients for all kinds of liver and bowel complaints. In his efforts to do without Calomel he developed his now famous little olive-oil-colored tablets. Safe and sure. Pleasant to take but unfailing in results.

Olive Tablets of the bowels just enough to start Nature's own action, and they tone up the liver at the same time. They are made from a rare combination of vegetable compounds mixed with olive oil.

If you want to regain that feeling of joyous buoyancy and clear thought take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. They work like a vacation. 10 and 25 cents per box.

"Every little Olive Tablet has a movement all its own."

Praise This Remedy For Consumption

If the voluntarily written words of grateful people living in all parts of the country, praising Eckman's Alternative, a remedy for the treatment of coughs, colds, throat and lung troubles, are to be believed, this medicine is certainly doing a vast amount of good for such sufferers. We state none but facts, and give to you the names and words of praise of those who declare it benefited them—in many cases coupled with the writers' statements that it restored them to health. This is a sample taken from many:

"My son, Academy, O'Neill, Nebraska, St. Mary's Academy, about seven years ago I was attacked with the dread disease, Tuberculosis. I coughed unceasingly, could not sleep, could not eat, could not speak out loud, and could do no work. I had three hemorrhages, raised blood most of the time and suffered of night sweats, fever and chills. A specialist of Columbus, Ohio, pronounced my case hopeless.

"Nearly five years ago I heard of your Alternative and procured some at once, with the result that I soon found myself restored to health. For the past four years I have been able to continue my teaching, and though I have always had heavy school work I am also able to perform much manual labor. I consider your medicine, if faithfully taken, a most excellent remedy for Consumption. Another Superior person, this testimonial, SISTER MARY.

(Signed) Sisters of St. Francis, Eckman's Alternative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Croup, Lung Troubles, and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. Ask for Eckman's Alternative, Philadelphia, Pa., for evidence. For sale by all leading druggists.

The Lady of the Mount

by FREDERIC S. ISNAM
AUTHOR OF "THE STROLLERS" UNDER THE ROSE
ILLUSTRATIONS BY RAY WALTERS
COPYRIGHT 1904 BY THE BOBBY-MERRILL CO.

"The monastery, I suppose," following the direction of her gaze, the Marquis, after a pause, grudgingly vouchsafed.

"Yes," said the girl in a low tone; "yes!"

"Shall we go on?"

Her eyes, passing over a tangle of shrubs, bushes, and thick, natural screens, slowly settled on a spot, not far away, where a wild bird, about to alight, fled off with a scream.

"Shall we go on?"

With a start the girl turned; the clear-cut features were very grave; in her gaze shone sudden compunction. She raised her hand. "My veil!" she said quickly. "I—dropped it. Do you mind? You—you will find it on this side of the stream—a little way down."

"Mind?" He regarded her doubtfully a moment; then moved by the irresistible appeal in her eyes, rather abruptly he wheeled, and as he did so, she gathered up the reins. Ere proceeding farther upon this errand of gallantry, my lord looked around.

"You seem to set great store on this veil," he observed suspiciously. "And I believe you were about to ride off!" he added, noting her expression, when, before she had time for protest or answer, a heavy body stirred in the bushes, near at hand, and a gruff voice called out.

"Stand where you are!"

The nobleman's face changed; his gaze, as if fascinated, now rested on a score of rough figures who, following the order, so unexpected and startling, sprang simultaneously from neighboring thickets or covert, and advanced to surround them. Held by their grim aspect—the desperate determined visages; the black, threatening looks—in the surprise of the moment, too late my lord's hand sought the sword at his side. Roughly plucked from his horse, he found himself flung to the sword; unceremoniously plucked, and heard the voice of my lady raised in his behalf.

CHAPTER XXIX.

The Marquis Intervenes.

The evening of the same day, his Excellency, in the seclusion of a small private chamber adjoining the salle du gouvernement, stood looking down at his desk on which were strewn papers and messages containing the latest news from Paris and received at the Mount but a few hours before. That the character of this information, political and social, was little to his liking, seemed manifest from his manner; he stared at the missives resentfully; then frowned and threw down the pen he had been using to mark, or make note of, their contents.

"Versailles—a mob! Sugar-plums to placate them! Sugar-plums!" he repeated; and, impatiently turning away, walked to the window. There for some time he stood peering out, when the current of his thoughts slowly changing, he took from his pocket a watch, and examined the jeweled face. "Time they were back!" About to return to his table and task, a loud knocking arrested the impulse, and, knocking the Governor called out; glanced toward the threshold and surveyed the intruder.

"A message from the commandant, your Excellency!" said the man, a trooper of the Mount, with a respectful, though nervous salute.

"Why," returned the Governor in a dry tone, "didn't he bring it himself?"

"Because," the trooper shifted; looked away; "because Monsieur le Commandant is engaged in securing the country for miscreants, your Excellency."

"Miscreants!" sharply. "What miscreants?"

"Monsieur le Commandant hopes to overtake those who have carried off the Lady Elise," said the messenger hurriedly, in the tone of one anxious to be done with his task.

"Carried off!" The thin figure wavered as if struck by a cold breath. "Carried off!" he repeated, saying his hand on the back of the chair.

"By a band of the Black Seigneur's men! His lordship, the Marquis, they left behind bound and secured, but the Lady Elise they took with them."

"For some time his Excellency said grew louder; some one laughed. But sullenly, without answer, the soldiers dragged by, into the town, and laboriously up to the top of the Mount. At the gate his Excellency waited; cast one glance at the company—their leader—and silently turned. Later, however, was he closeted with both the commandant and the Marquis—a brief period with the former who departed, carrying a look eloquent of the unpleasantness of the interview.

"And now," said the Governor in tones somewhat strained, as the officer's dejected footfall died in the distance, "we've got rid of that dot, let us consider, my Lord, the purport of this outrage."

"Purport?" repeated the Marquis petulantly, stretching his stiff legs. "Did they not tell me that if anything happened to the Black Seigneur, they would hold her, Elise, answerable for it? You see they had learned," bitterly, "of your intention to hang him after the wedding!"

"From which you infer?"

"They will keep her as hostage! Indeed, they said as much, when—"

"They bound you, my Lord?"

The color came to the young man's face. "It was a trap," he said, his voice pitched higher; "and they came prepared, not for one man, but the guard!"

"Still it was very ill-advised—a great mistake—to have taken the shorter way through the forest alone."

"The proposal did not originate with me! Elise suggested it. She seemed in a wild, headstrong mood; nothing would stop her. Now," moodily he rose, "mon dieu! What has she brought upon herself? Where is she now?"

His Excellency did not stir; his face, like a pale mask, was turned aside. "I do not think," he said slowly, "as arguing to convince himself, 'she is in any immediate danger.'"

"But my lord caught irritably at the word. 'No danger! She is surrounded by it. And we? what are we to do? Sit idly here? Give me a ship, your Excellency, and I will follow the boat of this Black Seigneur, and when I find it, force them to—'"

"What?" The Governor's eyes swerved dully. "Have you forgotten their threat? Their last words to you that if we attempted to follow, to rescue—that, rather than give her up—"

"They would not dare!" cried my lord with sparkling glance.

But his Excellency shook his head. "No; no; it won't do. And now," my lord looking away, "leave me, my Lord, to consider." With which, the interview, as unsatisfactory to the one as the other, terminated.

Several days that passed were not calculated either to alleviate his Excellency's anxiety, or the Marquis' impatience; for during that period of waiting came no word of my lady, or news of her captors. Mysteriously as a phantom ship had the boat that had carried the Governor's daughter appeared on the coast and vanished, and from none of the Governor's vessels, or any of the fishing craft could be gleaned information of its whereabouts. My lord, the Marquis, annoyed at what seemed but fruitless delay; was still for setting forth and inviting battle; but of this his Excellency would not hear; arguing, no doubt, to himself that in temporizing lay greater assurance of safety to his daughter than in precipitate action. So the situation grew hourly more trying, until—as if it already were not intolerable enough—a new concern added ironical weight to present perplexities.

"I have heard no more than you have," came the curt answer of this person—none other than Nanette—who carried a small bundle and seemed anxious to move on.

"Oh, I didn't know but you came from the palace!" observed the mistress of the inn, and returned to her customers, drinking and nodding with heads close together.

On the morrow, however, all doubts were removed and speculations put at rest; for hardly had the sun set, its seal in the sky than from the forests the appearance of a body of troops rewarded the watchers. From hovel to hut the word went, and men, women and children, unkempt and curious, ran down to the beach to await the approach of the guard. Proudly had it departed, with waving of plumes; slowly it returned, a bedraggled procession of staggering horses and heavy-eyed men. Had it come back a little earlier, the dark might have kept the truth from the people; now the pitiless red glare revealed to the full the plight of the troopers. It told, too, the disappointment of Monsieur le Commandant, who looked neither to the right nor to the left; and the despair of my lord, the Marquis, pale countenance of his debonaire self.

My young lord, between whom and the master of the Mount had been growing a more strained relationship, sought the Governor one day, and, in excited tones, announced he had just learned that the prisoner, the Black Seigneur, was ill and probably would survive but a short time longer, in the dungeon where he was confined. As his Excellency knew, the fellow had been wounded, and now with scanty nourishment, want of air, and close quarters, was generally in a bad way.

His Excellency heard; moistened his lips and seemed about to speak, but was silent, while more anxiously the young man went on. Of course under different conditions, with care and attention—a well-lighted room and excellent food—they might hope to restore their prisoner's strength; at least, preserve for a time one so precious to themselves, upon the threat of whose life hung my lady's!

His Excellency still answered no word; only looked down, and, knitting his brows, the young nobleman restlessly waited. At length, with an expression on his face the Marquis had never before seen there, his Excellency rose, moved like an automaton to the bell, and called for the jailer.

"Monsieur le Marquis has a few instructions to give you," The Governor's voice, but a breath, told what the words cost him.

The man responded gravely, looking from one to the other.

"Use your own judgment in the matter, my Lord," went on his Excellency, and left them together.

Imprisoned Tailor Strikes.

The latest Australian strike is one of the Gilbertian order. A prisoner in Fernantle prison, a tailor by trade, refused to work on the ground that it would be contrary to his principles as a trade unionist. He sent a letter to the Tailors' union officially notifying it of his action, but that body expressed neither sympathy nor disapproval, preferring silence.

REPUBLIC TO LIVE, SAYS SUN YAT SEN

In the Chinese Press Dr. Sun Yat Sen, first provisional president of China, tells of the future of the Celestial republic.

"After my sojourn of a few weeks in the north," he declares, "during which I have visited several important centres and have come in contact with the people of all classes, I feel more than ever before that a united China, a prosperous independent China, is a certain thing of the future. There have been past misadventures which have predicted that there would be two Chinas, one in the north and one in the south, but I now feel that the country is one nation and will always be so. The republic has come to stay."

"China is rich in every way and needs only to be developed. Railways will bring the people closer together. They will sweep aside provincial prejudices and do away with jealousies and cross-purposes which cannot but help retarding progress toward our goal. The railways, which we need, will soon be secured. Then China will be unified and will stand as a great nation of the world."

The Good Never Dies.

There is nothing, no nothing, innocent or good that dies and is forgotten. An infant—a prattling child—dying in its cradle—will live again in better thoughts of those who loved it, and play its part through them, in the redeeming actions of the world, though its body be burnt to ashes and drowned in the deepest sea.

After coughing months.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Woman Found Relief in Vinol.

Did you ever cough for a week? Then just think how distressing it must be to have a cough hang on for three months.

Mrs. Maria Primrose of 87 Newell street, Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I had a very heavy cold which settled into a chronic cough which kept me awake nights for fully three months, and felt tired all the time because my rest was broken. The effect of taking your cod liver and iron remedy, Vinol, is that my cough is gone. I can now get a good night's rest and I feel much stronger in every way."

It is the combined action of the medicinal elements cods' livers aided by the blood-making and strength-creating properties of tonic iron which makes Vinol so efficient for chronic coughs, colds and bronchitis—at the same time building up the weakened, run-down system.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you. Smith Drug Co., Jansville, Wis.

The Second Coming of Christ
By REV. JAMES M. GRAY, D. D., Dean of the Moody Bible Institute,
Chicago

TEXT—"Waiting for the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ."—1st Corinthians 1:7.

These words of Paul to the Corinthians expressed the attitude of that church, and they should express the attitude of the whole church of Jesus Christ everywhere and always. By the church we mean regenerated men and women, true believers on the name of our Lord Jesus Christ. What Does it Mean?

There is much confusion as to what is meant by the Second Coming of Christ, and yet the scriptures clearly teach that he is coming again in a personal and visible sense. What other interpretation can be given to the words of the angels spoken to the waiting disciples on Mt. Olivet just after the ascension of our Lord? "Ye men of Galilee, why stand ye gazing up into heaven? This same Jesus, which is taken up from you into heaven, shall so come in like manner as ye have seen him go into heaven." (Acts 1:11.)

All the orthodox creeds of the church have taught this, although there is a difference of opinion among good Christians as to the time when he shall come. For example, the scriptures speak of a thousand years when peace and righteousness shall prevail over the earth, known mostly as the millennium; and there are those who think that the Lord will not come until after that period, while others believe that he will come before it. This latter is my judgment, for I cannot see how there can be a millennium until he comes to introduce and make it a possibility.

This judgment is based upon the teaching of both the Old and New Testaments, but specifically upon our Lord's command to "Watch," because we know not the day nor the hour when he shall return.

A friend of mine used to spend his summers in New Hampshire, and one day he said to his little children that business called him to Boston. They were very much disappointed to have him go, and he cheered them up by saying that he would return again, and that they should watch for him. As a consequence, his train had hardly drawn out of the station when they ran to their mother and asked her to wash their hands and faces, and comb their hair, that they might run down again and wait for the incoming train on which they expected him to return. This they did continually at train time from day to day, until he did return; so that afterwards their mother said she had never known them to show such an interest in soap and water in their lives. It is for a result not unlike this that our Lord would keep us in the spirit of expectancy, for as the apostle John says, "Every man that hath this hope in him purifieth himself, even as he is pure." (1st John 3:3.)

Sometimes it is asked what is the practical value of preaching on the Second Coming of Christ? We have already stated one answer to that question in the effect of the hope on the personal character of the believer. But in addition to that it can be said that there is not a single Christian grace or virtue named in the New Testament with which that hope is not connected. Three hundred times as it is mentioned there, thus showing its importance in the Christian scheme, and the need of giving it its rightful place in all our Christian thinking and doing.

Andrew Bonar's Crown.
That dear old Scottish saint, Andrew Bonar, once visited this country, and when he was returning they gave him a farewell meeting in New York. Several eulogistic speeches were made, and one speaker in closing said, "Brethren, think of the crown of righteousness which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give him at that day." And when he sat down, Dr. Bonar arose, and walking to the front of the pulpit, concluded that quotation from Paul's second letter to Timothy adding, "And not to me only, but unto all them also that love his appearing." There are at least three crowns that are promised that faithful believer in the life to come, but this crown belongs alone to them who love our Lord's appearance. Are we content in that blessed number?

"Do thou my soul keep watch, beware lest thou in sleep sink down, lest thou be given over to death, and lose the golden crown."

And yet how shall we watch except by living in the will of God? But how do men know the will of God except as they learn of it in the Bible where it has been revealed? Nor is the simple reading of the Bible enough, unless the Holy Spirit shall interpret it to our understandings, and apply it to our hearts. This he does in answer to our supplications, hence I exhort you to a life of real piety.

China uses millions of pounds of old newspapers, chiefly British, as wall paper for houses and cottages.

"FRECKLES."
The trouble, time and expense necessary in staging a dramatization of some popular novel, must be understood to be thoroughly appreciated. It is a hard task, and there are but a few who have possessed the stamina to bring the work to a successful issue. When it became known that the wonderful popularity of "Freckles" was an absolute truth, there were a number of New York producing managers, who straightway wanted the dramatic rights of Gene Stratton-Porter's story of the Lumberlost, managers who rank at the very top as producers. Authors and copyright owners of books, however, of such popularity as this one, are slow to give the award. Mrs. Porter knew of the motto of the Dalamater firm: "producer of clean plays," and as this is her ideal of what a story or play should be, always clean and wholesome, as attested throughout all her works, Dalamater got the rights. Point number one. Who then to dramatize "Freckles?" That was the question, for to be real dramatic worth a book play must stick to the text of the story in both word and deed, and this requires more than a playwright; it requires a knowledge of stage intricacies thrown in; Neil Twomey was the man, and he went to work diligently; he succeeded, even above the hopes of Dalamater. Point number two.

The Great Question. Mark viii:27-31.

Golden Text—Thou art Christ, the Son of the living God. Matt. xvi:16.

(1) Verse 27—Where was Caesarea Philippi situated, and what class of people were its inhabitants?

(2) Why did Jesus want to know who the people said he was?

(3) Is it right or wrong, and why, for us to be anxious about what the people say of us?

(4) Verse 28—Why did the people think Jesus was either John, Elijah or one of the prophets? (See Matt. xiv:2.)

(5) In view of the fact that prior to this they had been saying he was the Christ, why were they not now saying so? (See John i:41; iv:42; Mark iii:11, 12; v:7.)

(6) Why did not Jesus publicly declare himself as the Christ and why did he refuse to let them make him king? (See John vi:15.)

(7) If Jesus at this time was not fulfilling the national expectations of the people concerning the Messiah, what effect would that have upon the opinions the people had of him?

(8) Verse 29. What evidence have we today that Jesus is the Christ of God? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

(9) How did Peter know that Jesus was Christ? (See Matt. xvi:15-17.)

(10) Peter and the other apostles had known before that Jesus was Christ, but how does his declaration here differ from his former belief? (See Matt. xiv:33; ix:27; xli:23.)

(11) There is belief and belief, but what is the only way to reach the supreme conviction that Jesus is the Christ? (See I Cor. xli:3.)

(12) Verse 30—Why, seeing Jesus came to the earth as the Christ, did he forbid them to make that fact known?

(13) Verse 31—When we are thwarted in doing our work in the best way, the way in which we had planned, what should we then do, and why?

(14) Would Christ have preferred that they had accepted him as their Saviour rather than rejecting him? Why?

(15) Was it God's original purpose, or not, and why, that the Jews should reject and crucify Jesus?

(16) Verses 32-33—Wherein consisted Peter's folly in differing with Jesus?

(17) If Jesus at this time had adopted Peter's view what would that have led him to do?

(18) Verses 34-35—Why is it that no man can be a follower of Jesus without self denial and suffering?

(19) What is the nature of the self denial and the suffering which all true Christians must endure?

(20) Verses 36-37—What is the most priceless possession a man has?

(21) To what extent of loss should a man go if essential to the salvation of his soul?

(22) If a millionaire dies without salvation and a poor man dies trusting in Christ what will be the difference in their wealth in eternity?

(23) Verse 38—What is it to be ashamed of Christ and what will it be to be rejected by him?

(24) ix:1—How did some of those that stood there witness "the kingdom of God come with power?"

ing newspaper of Berlin, following the remarkable popular success of a concert made up of his own works, which he gave here last night. It is a safe inference that the Chicago director's right to recognition among the foremost of modern musicians in Europe as well as in America is firmly established.

The critic of the Lokal Anzeiger says:

In all the works produced one was immediately struck with the fact that here was unmistakable talent for orchestral effects. His command of the resources of the orchestra is as magical as that of a born genius of instrumentation. Although today nearly all possible combinations of orchestral tone have been exhausted, there appear in his works hitherto unknown color effects. These are not merely experimental, but evidently sound exactly as he meant them to sound.

Purely as a creative composer, Mr. Stock is also interesting because of his amazing modulations of chord combinations and brilliant interweaving of themes. His symphony, indeed, is so rich and complex that even for the professional musician it is not easy to grasp on the first hearing. That Mr. Stock proved a masterly interpreter of his own works need scarcely be said. He held the Philharmonic orchestra under absolute control and it played magnificently." Mr. Frederick Stock and the famous Thomas Orchestra will be heard at the Myers Theater, Monday November 25.
